Investment Objective

Davis Opportunity Fund's investment objective is long-term growth of capital.

Fees and Expenses of the Davis Opportunity Fund

This table describes the fees and expenses that you may pay if you buy and hold shares of Davis Opportunity Fund. You may qualify for sales charge discounts if you and your family invest, or agree to invest in the future, at least $100,000 in Davis Funds. More information about these and other discounts is available from your financial professional and in the "How to Choose a Share Class, Class A shares" section of the fund's statutory prospectus on page 62 and in the "Selecting the Appropriate Class of Shares" section of the fund's statement of additional information on page 51.

Shareholder Fees (fees paid directly from your investment)	Class A shares	Class B shares	Class C shares	Class Y shares
Maximum sales charge (load) imposed on purchases (as a percentage of offering price)	4.75%	None	None	None
Maximum deferred sales charge (load) imposed on redemptions (as a percentage of the lesser of the net asset value of the shares redeemed or the total cost of such shares. If you buy Class A shares valued at $1 million or more without a sales charge and sell the shares within one year of purchase)	0.50%	4.00%	1.00%	None
Redemption Fee (as a percentage of total redemption proceeds)	None	None	None	None

Annual Fund Operating Expenses (expenses that you pay each year as a percentage of the value of your investment)	Class A shares	Class B shares	Class C shares	Class Y shares
Management Fees ⁽¹⁾	0.55%	0.55%	0.55%	0.55%
Distribution and/or service (12b-1) Fees	0.24%	1.00%	1.00%	0.00%
Other Expenses	0.31%	0.49%	0.34%	0.19%
Total Annual Operating Expenses	1.10%	2.04%	1.89%	0.74%

⁽¹⁾ Management fees have been revised because on July 1, 2009, management fees were reduced by eliminating all management fee breakpoints in excess of 0.55%.

Example

This Example is intended to help you compare the cost of investing in the fund with the cost of investing in other mutual funds.

This Example assumes that you invest $10,000 in the Davis Opportunity Fund for the time periods indicated and then redeem all of your shares at the end of those periods. This Example also assumes that your investment has a 5% return each year and the fund's operating expenses remain the same. Class B shares' expenses for the 10 year period include three years of Class A shares' expenses since Class B shares automatically convert to Class A shares after seven years. Although your actual costs may be higher or lower, based on these assumptions, your costs would be:

If you sell your shares in:	1 Year	3 Years	5 Years	10 Years
Class A shares	$582	$808	$1,052	$1,752
Class B shares	$607	$940	$1,298	$2,013
Class C shares	$292	$594	$1,021	$2,212
Class Y shares	$ 76	$237	$ 411	$ 918

You would pay the following expenses if you did not redeem your shares:	1 Year	3 Years	5 Years	10 Years
Class A shares	$582	$808	$1,052	$1,752
Class B shares	$207	$640	$1,098	$2,013
Class C shares	$192	$594	$1,021	$2,212
Class Y shares	$ 76	$237	$ 411	$ 918

Portfolio Turnover

The Davis Opportunity Fund pays transaction costs, such as commissions, when it buys and sells securities (or "turns over" its portfolio). A higher portfolio turnover rate may indicate higher transaction costs and may result in higher taxes when fund shares are held in a taxable account. These costs, which are not reflected in annual fund operating expenses or in the example, affect the fund's performance. During the most recent fiscal year, the fund's portfolio turnover rate was 24% of the average value of its portfolio.

Principal Investment Strategies

Davis Selected Advisers, L.P., (“Davis Advisors” or the “Adviser”) the fund’s investment adviser, uses the Davis Investment Discipline to invest Davis Opportunity Fund’s assets in a diversified portfolio of common stock issued by companies across the spectrum of market capitalizations. While the fund invests primarily in U.S. companies, it may also invest in foreign companies.

Davis Investment Discipline. Davis Advisors manages equity funds using the Davis Investment Discipline. Davis Advisors conducts extensive research to try to identify businesses that possess characteristics that Davis Advisors believes foster the creation of long-term value, such as proven management, a durable franchise and business model, and sustainable competitive advantages. Davis Advisors aims to invest in such businesses when they are trading at discounts to their intrinsic worth. Davis Advisors emphasizes individual stock selection and believes that the ability to evaluate management is critical. Davis Advisors routinely visits managers at their places of business in order to gain insight into the relative value of different businesses. Such research, however rigorous, involves predictions and forecasts that are inherently uncertain. After determining which companies Davis Advisors believes the fund should own, Davis Advisors then turns its analysis to determining the intrinsic value of those companies’ equity securities. Davis Advisors seeks equity securities which can be purchased at attractive valuations relative to their intrinsic value. Davis Advisors’ goal is to invest in companies for the long term. Davis Advisors considers selling a company’s equity securities if the securities’ market price exceeds Davis Advisors’ estimates of intrinsic value, or if the ratio of the risks and rewards of continuing to own the company’s equity securities is no longer attractive.

Principal Risks of Investing in the Davis Opportunity Fund

Investors in Davis Opportunity Fund should have a long-term perspective and be able to tolerate potentially sharp declines in value. The principal risks of investing in the fund are:

Market risk: The market value of shares of common stock can change rapidly and unpredictably and have the potential for loss.

Company risk: Common stock represents ownership positions in companies. Over time, the market value of a common stock should reflect the success or failure of the company issuing the stock.

Under $10 Billion Market Capitalization risk: Small- and mid-size companies typically have more limited product lines, markets and financial resources than larger companies, and their securities may trade less frequently and in more limited volume than those of larger, more mature companies.

Foreign Country risk: Foreign companies may be subject to greater risk as foreign economies may not be as strong or diversified, foreign political systems may not be as stable, and foreign financial reporting standards may not be as rigorous as they are in the United States.

Headline risk: The fund may make such investments when a company becomes the center of controversy after receiving adverse media attention. While Davis Advisors researches companies subject to such contingencies, they cannot be correct every time, and the company’s stock may never recover.

Fees and Expenses risk: All mutual funds incur operating fees and expenses. Fees and expenses reduce the return which a shareholder may earn by investing in a fund. A low return environment, or a bear market, increases the risk that a shareholder may lose money.

Your investment in the fund is not a bank deposit and is not insured or guaranteed by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation or any other government agency, entity or person.

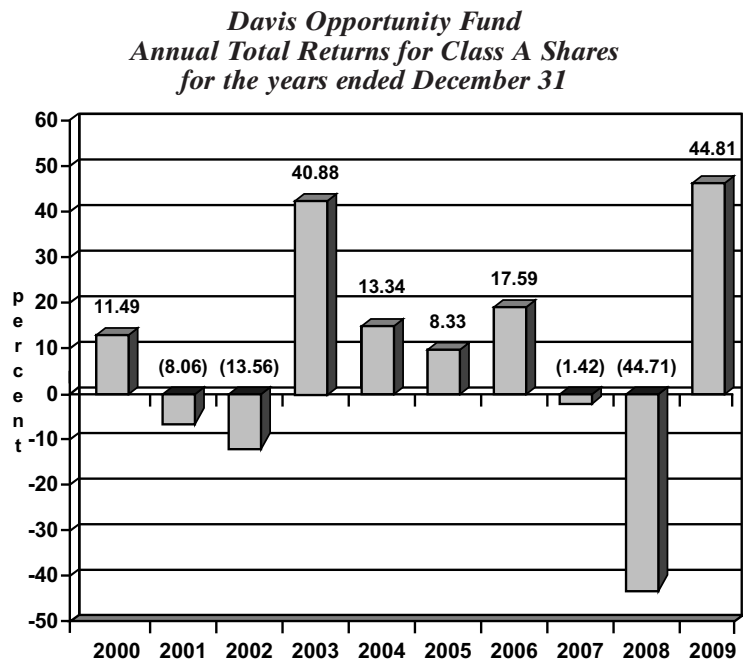

Performance Results

The bar chart below provides some indication of the risks of investing in the Davis Opportunity Fund by showing how the fund’s investment results have varied from year to year. The following table shows how the fund’s average annual total returns for various periods compare with those of the Russell 3000® Index. Investments in initial public offerings (IPOs) had a favorable impact on Davis Opportunity Fund’s performance in 1999 and 2000. This was a time when the IPO market was very active. No assurance can be given that Davis Opportunity Fund will continue to invest in IPOs to the same extent in the future or that such investments would be profitable. The fund’s past performance (before and after taxes) is not necessarily an indication of how the fund will perform in the future. Updated information on the fund’s results can be obtained by visiting www.davisfunds.com or by calling 1-800-279-0279.

After-tax returns are shown only for Class A shares; after-tax returns for other share classes will vary. After-tax returns are calculated using the historical highest individual federal marginal income tax rates and do not reflect the impact of state and local taxes. Actual after-tax returns depend on an investor’s tax situation and may differ from those shown, and after-tax returns shown are not relevant to investors who hold their fund shares through a tax-deferred arrangement, such as a 401(k) plan or individual retirement accounts.
